To whom it may concern

I hereby confirm that Jason Godfrey has been an employee at Danhostel Copenhagen City since July 5th 2012 to January 2014. Jason has been working primarily at night in the reception but also during the day and evenings.

Jason is not afraid of working hard and taking responsibility during his shifts, that's why we have full confidence to Jason solving the tasks he has been given in a satisfying way. Jason is very well liked among his colleagues and the management department. He is loyal, stabile and he works serious and determined.

Danhostel Copenhagen City is Europe's biggest hostel with 1020 beds. Our capacity makes our reception a busy place to be. At times, working in our house can be very hectic, especially in the high season. Our house has always an essence of life and international atmosphere, due to the fact that 50% of our guests are from all over the world. Jason has regardless of the workload always delivered a perfect work effort, maintained a high level of service with our guests, and helped throughout the entire house. The job as a receptionist implies helping the guests with checking in and out, money transfers and currency exchange, replying emails and phone calls regarding bookings, refilling and sales of different smaller items, and general ad hoc tasks.

We can only give our best recommendations to the future employer and wish Jason all the best in the future.

Kind Regards

Jeanette Birkedal
